

Lowe Art Museum Internship Program

Spring 2024 Call for Applications!

The Lowe Art Museum Internship Program provides students with opportunities to gain knowledge, skills, and professional experience for careers in museums and other cultural organizations. We offer five internships for the Spring 2024 semester. The time commitment is approximately 10 hours per week, totaling 120 hours for the semester.

Interns earn college credit for their work at the Lowe through two pathways:

- Earn 3 credit hours towards your degree by signing up for a relevant course in your department. Please check with your advisor for appropriate courses.
- Earn 1 credit hour (not towards your degree) through the UM Toppel Career Center program.

How to Apply:

- Write a compelling cover letter indicating which internship you're applying for and why. See side box for tips on writing a strong application!
- Submit the cover letter and your resume or CV to tolaporter@miami.edu by the deadline: Friday, December 8, 2023.
- Selected candidates will be notified by the week of December 18, 2023.
- Registration for appropriate course must occur before January 12, 2024.
- First day of the internship with orientation is Monday, January 22, 2024.

Museum Education Internship (2 available)

The Museum Education Intern will learn museum education methodologies, research artworks in the collection, and help plan and facilitate Family Art Workshops, group tours, academic engagement initiatives, and public programs.

Global Black Studies @ the Lowe Internship (1 available)

Based in the curatorial department, the Center for Global Black Studies @ the Lowe Intern will pursue a research-based project focusing on photography in the permanent collection to create a digital exhibition.

Collections Management Internship (1 available)

The Collections Management Intern will work on a variety of projects including research assignments, material gathering, database entry, and document drafting.

Technology, Marketing, and Communications Internship (1 available)

This intern will work on projects related to social media management, content creation, website maintenance, email marketing, graphic design, visitor engagement, data analysis, market research, and event documentation.

How to Write a Strong Application

Understand the nature of the specific internship to which you apply. Demonstrate your skills and interest for that role specifically.

Mention how the internship aligns with your academic focus and career aspirations.

Research the Lowe and mention relevant points that connect to the internship.

Proofread and have another set of eyes review your work for an error-free letter and resume.
